A LITTLE MORE

My experience comes from working in a variety environments. Everything from a small design shop, creative agencies, corporate in-house, to freelancing. I've had the benefit of working on a wide variety of projects for the web as well as print and video. In addition to hands on skills, I've develop project management skills that help to establish scope, timeline, and budget for projects. Above all else; I am a learner, always looking to expand my skills and knowledge.
